Constitutional Convention The risks outweigh the possibilities

- If Republicans get control, they can overturn New York law and enact the Trump agenda.
- Transit, social service and school funding, environmental laws, civil rights, civil liberties, sanctuary cities, tenants rights and union rights can be taken away.
- Big money will pour in to elect delegates.
- The districts from which delegates will come have already been gerrymandered to produce a Republican majority.
- A statewide referendum to defeat bad constitutional amendments could cost millions for paid media. Whatever we spend, the Koch Brothers will spend more.

The only question is:

How much are you willing to risk?
