

President's Report

By Lorraine Zamora

Three Parks is back in person!

On Wednesday evening, April 12, we will conduct our club meeting at the hostel on W. 103rd street and Amsterdam Ave. for the first time since the fall of 2020, two-and-a-half years ago. It will be wonderful to see one another again in the same room! We ask that everyone wear a mask at the meeting, and we will have masks available for anyone who needs one. Helping Three Parks celebrate its return to the hostel will be guest speakers Congressman Jerry Nadler and Council Member Shaun Abreu (District 7).

Many thanks to everyone who helped gather petition signatures over the past five weeks so that our endorsed candidates could get on the primary ballot in June. As of last Friday, we had collected over 1,121 signatures and were looking forward to wrapping up this past weekend in time for the April 8 deadline.

As I write this, the New York grand jury investigating Trump's 2016 hush-money payments to Stormy Daniels has voted to indict the former president. This is the first time in history that a former U.S. President has been indicted. Although the vote to indict did not come from District Attorney Alvin Bragg himself, Three Parks is mighty proud of the work he has done to foster the indictment and that we endorsed and supported Bragg during his campaign.

Thanks again, for all that you do to support Three Parks and progressive Democratic candidates.

Happy Passover!
